CANTON IS MURDERED

Rebellion in Chinese City Breaks Out With Renewed Vigor.

Loyalty of Troops to the Emperor Is Beginning to Be Doubted.

United States Sends Warship to Port to Protect American Interests.

Hongkong, April 28.—L. taotal of Canton, has been assassinated by the rebels who are again strong. The gates of the city have been closed. The loyalty of the troops is doubted and this has caused much excitement among the peaceful inhabitants of Canton.

Refugees arriving here confirm earlier reports of the uprising at Canton, which appears to have been instigated by anti-Manchus who went to that city from Macao and Hongkong and spread the revolutionary propaganda among the troops at a time when they were nursing several grievances.

Hundreds of rebels have been killed or wounded in the fighting, which began with the attack upon the viceroys' palace, Thursday. Brig-Gen. Chung was mortally wounded while attempting to suppress the revolt and died yesterday. Two British torpedo boat destroyers have been sent to Canton from here.

Gunsent Sent to Canton.—The United States gunboat Wilmington sailed today from Hongkong for Canton to render any assistance that may be required by the government of the United States in the situation at the latter place.

DALY'S DAUGHTER DIES IN NEW YORK

Passes Away Soon After Arrival on Special Train
From Montana.

New York, April 28.—Mrs. Margaret Daly Brown, daughter of the late Marcus Daly and wife of H. C. Brown, a banker, died early today at her mother's home on Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Brown's death came within a few hours after her arrival here on a special car which brought her on a fast run from Montana. Her husband, mother and other members of her family were at the bedside when death came.

Mrs. Brown was taken ill in Anacostia, Mont., where she had gone two weeks ago. The high altitude, it was said, imposed a strain on her heart, and it was deemed advisable to bring her back to New York at once. A special car left Anacostia on Thursday with physicians and nurses. Mr. Brown met the returning party at Chicago. They reached the city last evening, when physicians said Mrs. Brown's condition was very critical.

Mrs. Brown was married in 1901 and inherited several million dollars on the death of her father.

Hammond of Minnesota Says
He Will Vote for Farmers' Measure.

Believes It Will Give Some Return for Losses By Trade Pact.

Washington, April 29.—Committee meetings were the order today for senators, members of the more important committees arriving early at the capital to acquaint themselves with the mass of matter that has piled up since congress convened and which has remained practically untouched.

The fact that when the senate adjourned yesterday, it was not to meet again until Monday, gave opportunity to prepare for the serious business of the session, which has been prevented by the factional fight over committee assignments in the Republican ranks.

The house again had the free list bill before it. An effort yesterday to follow the lead of the senate and adjourn until Monday was frowned upon by the Democratic leaders, because of the increasing number of members who have announced their intention of speaking on the measure.

Hammond to Support Free List.—Representative W. S. Hammond of Minnesota, the Democratic member of the ways and means committee who voted against the Canadian reciprocity bill in the house, in a speech today declared that he would support the Democratic free list bill only because it would give some return to the farming interests of the country for industries they were likely to receive as a result of the Canadian trade agreement.

Mr. Hammond said he believed the

At Turin Exposition Largest Ever Made By Govern-

Thousands of Visitors Flock to Italian City to Attend
Opening.

Turin, Italy, April 29.—The international exhibition of industries and labor, the biggest affair of the kind ever attempted in Italy, was opened today. There is a friendly rivalry between Turin and Rome, where the art exposition, the other great feature of the jubilee celebration of Italian unity, is in full swing, and the result has been intense popular interest in both undertakings.

The Turin exhibition occupies an area of 12,000,000 square feet, extending on both sides of the River Po, the two parts being joined by four bridges, two built especially for this occasion. It is 135 1/2 by 27 1/2 feet.

The American pavilion comprises the largest exhibit ever made abroad by that government. In all there 15,000 exhibitors representing the European countries, North and South America, Japan, Persia, Siam, Turkey, Tunis and the British colonies.

Population Doubled.—Today the population of Turin, which is nearly 500,000, has been doubled by the visitors. Enormous crowds filled the exposition grounds and the streets of the city. The inauguration was participated in by King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Helena, the duke of Aosta, the count of Turin, the duke of the Abruzzi, foreign diplomats from Rome, Premier Giolitti and his associates in the ministry, Francis B. Loomis, commissioner

New York Square May Have Landing Place for Airship Liners.

New York, April 29.—Longacre Square may have a $2,000,000 landing station for regular airship liners.

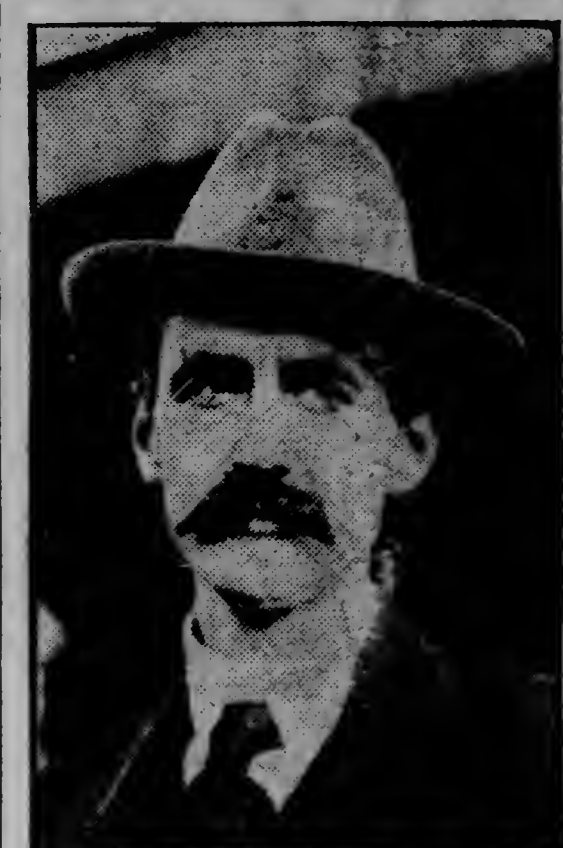

Henry Erkins, whose eccentric adaptations of old Greek and Roman architecture to White Light resorts created such places as Murray's and the Cafe Opera, has planned a structure to fulfill the uses to which Madison Square Garden has been put. Financial arrangements are being conducted by John Ochs and Oscar Schmidt, who represent Milwaukee brewing interests.

The site is that of the old Brewster wagon factory, Broadway and Forty-seventh street, at the head of the square. It is 135 1/2 by 27 1/2 feet.

Erkins plans to have in the basement a restaurant with a far greater seating capacity than any other in town, through the center of the building will run a grand court, with balconies at seven floors above the ground floor, which will be for stores. The balcony floors will be for show-rooms. Three floors above them will contain great halls for exhibitions.

On the roof will be an immense garden, with a lake for the display of motor boats, and with starting and landing places for airships.

One elevator will be big enough to carry to the roof an automobile, an aeroplane, a fifty-foot motor boat or 400 persons.

Fishermen Have Terrible En-

Numerous Patrols Are Search-

New Orleans, April 29.—Fierce encounters with a lashing hurricane and angry seas, two nights of exposure and almost unending hours of hunger and thirst, was the lot of scores of fish and oyster men of the Gulf coast fleets during the West Indian gale of Tuesday and Wednesday. Stories of suffering among crews of wrecked schooners and oyster luggers are coming in today, brought by men who succeeded in reaching villages after a long fight in the gale off shore. Today numerous patrols are chugging through unknown bays and inlets in search of many fishermen believed to have taken refuge from the hurricane and now unable to reach home. It is known that numerous fishermen, their boats' motive power exhausted, have rowed scores of miles in frail skiffs to bring help to marooned crews.

Refuses to Tell Police Name

Die.

His throat slashed from ear to ear, Oscar Nattinen was brought to St. Mary's hospital shortly after noon yesterday in a dying condition.

Mystery surrounds the case. The victim refuses to talk, further than to give his name and to intimate that his injury was the outcome of a desperate battle fought in some camp in the woods.

Nattinen was brought to the hospital yesterday by a countryman, whose name was not learned. He turned the wounded man over to the hospital authorities and then disappeared. Nothing has been heard of him since.

Nattinen was hurried to the operating room, where the ugly slash in his throat was thoroughly washed out with antiseptics and closed with nearly a dozen stitches. The wound had been bled by Chief Hainy before he reached the institution, but the work had been done by unpracticed hands. However, the person who acted in the emergency managed to fairly check the flow of blood, or he would have been dead before he reached the hospital.

Nattinen was given the best of attention, but despite the utmost care he is liable not to pull through. Hopes of his recovery are held out, however.

Washington, April 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A row is imminent in the house committee on Indian affairs over the question of considering considerable legislation which will be pressed this session.

In Oklahoma, Minnesota, Montana and other states investigations are being made relative to Indian matters. In Minnesota the Chippewa Indians are demanding remedial legislation on White Earth and Red Lake reservations. Representative Miller has introduced a bill which he will introduce soon. Senator Clapp has heard a delegation from the White Earth band headed by Chief Hainy Cloud and Rev. C. H. Beaulieu. They want a large sum due them in interest on several million dollars which has accrued under terms of the act 1889.

Report That La Follette Presidential Boom Will Start at Once.

FROM THE HERALD
WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, April 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since Senator La Follette's pronouncement in the senate voicing the sentiment of the insurgents against the standpatners and their methods in making up the committees, there have been interesting developments.

Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, the new senator from the Wolverine state, who has been claimed by the progressives, has decided to leave them out of his book of assignments. He is incensed at La Follette's attack on the interstate commerce committee, of which he is a member.

Mr. Townsend says that he was a pioneer railway rate reformer and points to his record in the house when he was the chief sponsor for the Esch-Townsend bill introduced by President Roosevelt. "And yet," declared Senator Townsend today, "La Follette stands up and declares that every new member of the committee on interstate commerce is a reactionary and nothing can be hoped from us in the way of reform legislation. Now I was advocating control by congress of the transportation lines before my friend from Wisconsin came to Washington."

Mr. Townsend's friends say that he will not line up with the standpatners but will pursue an independent course in the senate.

His story is current today that millions of La Follette statements are to be sent broadcast over the country and that his presidential boom is to be launched forthwith and financed by Rudolph Spreckles of California, Clifford Finchot and Senator Jonathan Bourne. La Follette has a force of clerks working here all the time.

EVERY EFFORT TO

Searching Parties Scour the Country for Slayer of Mrs.
Charles Turner.

Lakewood, N. J., April 29.—All this section of the state is being scoured today for the slayer of Mrs. Charles Turner, who was found clubbed to death in the woods near here yesterday.

The motive for the crime has not been determined. Mrs. Turner was an attractive woman of middle age, wife of a responsible employee of the estate of George J. Gould. She was taking a short cut through the woods to deliver some dresses at a local sanatorium. There was every indication that she had struggled desperately against her assailant. Her waist was partly torn off, her neck and bosom were scratched and lacerated and her fingernails were torn.

Sunday.

For Twenty-One Years It Has Been Landmark in Duluth.

The last service in the old Lake Avenue Bethel will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The decrepit building, where for twenty-one years men and women have been raised from the gutter to lives of usefulness, will be abandoned to the uses of commercialism. President W. D. Edison of the Bethel society will preside over the final meeting, which will be attended by many of the directors and leaders in the charitable and religious circles of Duluth. Miss Frances McElfert, who for several years has been actively associated in the work of the society will sing.

From the woods and from the highways and byways will come men and women who have their self-respect to the Bethel and the workers associated with it. Their regret at the passing of the old institution will be tempered by their joy over the expansion of the society and the bright prospects for its future in its new home which will soon be constructed. Until the new building is available the society will be quartered in a building at First street and Mesaba avenue.

For many years the Bethel has occupied a prominent place in the history of Duluth.

"THE GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY ON EARTH" SAYS A GRATEFUL WOMAN.

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp-Root did me. About four years ago I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time, I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctors' medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a thorough trial, I received relief so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. If I ever feel badly or out of sorts, I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

DULUTH NOW SHIPPING FERTILIZER TO FARMING DISTRICTS NEAR CITY

THE TRESTLE BUILT BY CITY FOR LOADING CARS.

Many tons of manure will be saved to enrich the soil of St. Louis county this year by the efforts of the city authorities, the Duluth Commercial club and the Northern Pacific railroad. The waste of the fertilizer in former years has been protested against by agricultural experts to good effect and the farmers of the county will in the future be given an opportunity to obtain the product at a nominal cost.

The city has built a loading platform at the city dump, the Northern Pacific railway has completed the construction of a spur track to the platform and the city is now ready to furnish fertilizer to the farmers who apply for it, providing the cars can be obtained and the farmers will pay the freight charges.

One car of the product was sent out this week and several applications are on file. Some difficulty has been experienced in getting cars to make shipments, but that matter is expected to adjust itself soon.

Commercial club officers, Health Commissioner Webster and Mayor Culum got together on the proposition last fall and decided that the dumping of the fertilizer into the bay was a willful waste of a valuable product. They found that many farmers throughout the county were willing to pay freight charges if the loading on the cars would be attended to here. The building of the platform and the spur track was the result and the city has stationed a man at the dump to direct the loading.

The farmers who want the fertilizer will be required to make application to the railroad company nearest their farms for a car to be spotted on the X. 12 track. When the car is spotted the city will attend to the loading and shipment. Large gondola cars will be required, as any other kind of car would be unsatisfactory, and the minimum weight will be 50,000 pounds. As the use of fertilizer should run about two tons to the acre, any farmer could use a carload to good effect.

Many of the farmers have already completed their planting and have no use for the fertilizer this spring, but will obtain it and store it to spread soon as desirably, though the freight charges will be tied up. It is expected that there will be a heavy demand for the product next fall and next spring and that no more fertilizer will be dumped into the bay for some time.

"Roller skating, aside from being a pleasure, is recommended by physicians as the most healthful of all forms of recreation," said Mr. Hammel. ernoon from 2 to 5 and every evening from 7:30 to 10:30. Saturday mornings will be devoted to school children at a nominal price of 15 cents, including skates and checkers. The general admission for the afternoons will be 10 cents and for evenings 15 cents. The Richardson ball bearing anti-rust cushion skates with fibre rollers will be used exclusively in the Auditorium. In the afternoons the skates will be 15 cents and evenings 20 cents. The wardrobe is free to skaters, with good music at every session. The management will forbid the use of aluminum or steel rollers on their skating surface.

"The skating season will open at the Auditorium, Third avenue east and First street, Tuesday evening, May 2, for the benefit of the children's home. Tomorrow afternoon, the building will be open to free public inspection from 3 to 5 and from 8 to 10."

Success in Strength, Not in Brains

Stamina and Physical Endurance the Real Key to Success.

Many men with ordinary brains make huge successes. Many brilliant men make up the vast human derelicts that have founded because they lacked motive power—otherwise called steam, vim and snap.

Most men and women must and should rely upon a safe and effective nerve-injector every once in a while, to "recharge their batteries."

What can you do when your strength wanishes, no matter how brainy you might be?

Make-Man Tablets are wonderful builders of nerve-strength and purifiers of the blood. The first box always proves it. They are absolutely safe.
They give you splendid, splendid, youthful tone to the nerves, infuse an ambition, give self-confidence, quicken the brain, dispel worry, sharpen the memory, give a keen edge to the appetite and refreshing and sound sleep.

If you lack ambition, have Nervous
Prostration, Kidney or Liver Trouble,
Insomnia or Rheumatism, try Make-Man
Tablets are remarkable.
Make-Man Tablets are sold at all drug stores for 15 cents a box. If you want to try them before buying, just drop a line to the Make-Man Tablet
Co., Make-Man Bldg., Dept. 14, Chicago, Ill., and they will send you a trial treatment absolutely free of charge.
Sold and recommended by all leading druggists and A. E. Svedberg, White Swan Drug, Superior street, also 2015 West Superior street.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age.
Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.
One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will convert this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West
Superior street.

Burning.

An investigation is being made by the police today into the mysterious circumstances surrounding a fire of incendiary origin, which was discovered last evening at the home of Felix McAllan, 2523 West Huron street.
Arrests may follow on charges of arson.

The firemen and police say that someone attempted to burn the Mc-Allan place last evening. A blaze broke out there about 9:30 o'clock and before the firemen from No. 2 hall could get to the blaze, the kitchen was badly gutted, the downstairs scorching and two rooms upstairs, having no connection with each other, also somewhat burned.

The members of the family claim to have been away from home at the time of the blaze. They could give no information as to its origin, stating that they were visiting at a neighbor's home at the time.

The burning of the place had been well planned. The house was saturated with kerosene inside and outside, and the place was surrounded with a streak of coal oil, the firemen said. Besides the two of the rooms upstairs and one room downstairs were soaked in kerosene and burning when the firemen broke in.
None of the rooms had any connection with each other. Another fire had been started in the kitchen. It is the belief of the police that the fire had been set in at least four different places.

The blaze was discovered by men working at the street car barns, a black away, who noticed the fire department. A quick run was made and the building was saved before much damage was done.

HONORS EVEN AT HIBBING

Pal Brown and Tommy Garry Fight Ten Vicious Rounds.

Garry Sent to Knees in Sixth
Session by Hard Right Swing.

Hibbing, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Before a wildly enthusiastic crowd of fight fans, Pal Brown and Tommy Garry last night fought ten even rounds.

Throughout the battle there was little to choose between the two boys. Confident that he would find Brown only a good boy with big local reputation, Garry was aggressive during the first seven rounds. He carried the battle to Pal, but every onslaught found the little Hibbingite there with his counters or a puzzling defense.

The Chicago boy was fast and had a right cross that bothered Pal some in the early rounds. On the other hand, the long left of the Hibbing boy and his right at close quarters made the tough lad from the Windy City respect the hard-hitting power from the range.

In the sixth, Pal brought the boy crowd roaring to its feet with a vicious swing that sent the little Chicago boy to his knees. Tommy was up in an instant and sailed into Brown with vicious rights and hard lefts. The round ended with honors even.

In the seventh session Brown became slightly more aggressive. His right began working and in the clinches he got in some effective blows. Some of the blows landed by Brown would have weakened a less sturdy batter than the Chicago man, who seemed to assimilate punishment as a matter of course.

In this round Brown upstaged Tommy, and Garry retaliated by planting a solid left and then coming in with a short right. The boys battled over the ring, standing shoulder to shoulder, the song finding the boys even.

The ninth was a close fight, with much work done in close, as both boys showed a fondness for the clinching. Both boys fought viciously for a knockout. Time and time again Brown tried to land his right uppercut, Garry blocking some of the blows. Garry kept trying a short right cross in close and a left to the kidneys.

As the song rang for the last round both boys rushed to the center of the ring, trying hard rights. At infighting both men showed a fondness for the clinch. Brown tried to land a hard right, but the round ended without a shade to either boy and with the approval of the crowd.

Garry is the best boy who ever met Brown. He is fast, strong and packs a punch in either mitt. Brown hit the little Chicago boy some hard wallop at several stages of the battle, but he merely made the other boy sail in with hard rights and lefts.

Brown also took some hard blows. Garry tried everything he knew on the range fighter, but found one of the most willing and hard hitting boys ever met in his comparatively long ring career.

Brown took enough punishment to be strong at the call of time for the last round.

Followers of Brown are of the opinion that the Hibbing lad was getting stronger as the battle progressed. They are also willing to wager that in a fight going over ten rounds Pal will be returned the winner. Dr. Plummer, manager for Brown, said he will place a substantial side bet in the event the boys were matched to meet over a longer route.

There was a large crowd up from Duluth. The Duluth delegation was strong (or Brown), and many of the Zenith City fans shared in the opinion of the Hibbing spectators that Brown would have won had the battle gone further.

There is talk of rematching the boys, and it is probable that they will meet together in the near future over the 20-round route.

Jeffersons at Iron River.

The Jeffersons of the Duluth-Superior Amateur league will play the Iron River, Wis., team tomorrow at Iron River. The Jeffersons have a very strong team, according to the form shown in practice, and the game should be a very good one.

FASCINATION OF THE CIRCUS

Lure of Sawdust Ring Too Much for Old Trouper Who Had Fallen for Vaudeville.

THE fascination which the circus lot holds for any one who has ever belonged to the craft is always particularly evident at this time of the year, and any old "trouper" who can resist the sight of a red wagon with gold wheels or the lay of the callopes known to be hopelessly immune to the temptation which the canvas holds for its former habitués, says the New York World.

Standing on the corner nearby where a flock of bill posters were pasting lithographs heralding the arrival of the "world's greatest circus," was one of a famous family of acrobats. As he gazed on the scene a man wearing an expression of "there is nothing in the circus to shock the modesty of the most fastidious, right this way to the main tent, greatest megatherian masochistic collection of animals ever gathered from the four quarters of the world," slapped him on the back and exclaimed:

"Hello, Nelson! Haven't seen you since we left the Allied Palace of wonders with the Pen Big Circus. Going trouping this year? No? You're going to stay in vaudeville? Don't believe it."

"Well," said the cheery acrobat, "you had better believe it, for I've already given away my 18 by 24 truck and furnished up a flat for the wife and kiddies to stay in and have framed up a troupe to be known as the 'United Vaudeville Acrobats.' I've got contracts in my pockets for forty weeks at a bigger salary than I ever got before, and I can save enough to leave the business altogether and try some commercial enterprise and be a real citizen, pay taxes and get my children baptized, and all that sort of stuff."

"Up to now, when we were with the circus and went in vaudeville in the winter time, we always had to play small time because we didn't stay at it long enough to get the big time; but last summer Percy Williams saw our act at the circus and signed us."

"Now, it's for Pullman and nice, comfortable dressing rooms, run in the theater and do your act. No more your red-and-blue balloons, red lemons, hey-rubes and razorbacks, or having to get the two bulls to get you off the lot at night or chase around in the dark looking for escaped snakes, or having a flood of old recollections which go to make up a circus life. Not for yours truly!"

"Oh, is that so?" retorted the old speller. "I've heard a lot of you fellows talk about before, but you notice we meet them all on the lot at the opening of the circus, happy as clams at high tide."

Meaning the acrobat's wife was busy engaged spangling costumes for the forty weeks' tour, and while hurrying through a department store one afternoon after purchasing satins of every hue she passed a corner where a glittering array of spangles were on sale. She paused for a minute, frowning at the sight of the shimmering stuff. Turning she saw the chariot racer from the old Barnum show alongside of her.

"Why, Flossy Nelson?" she exclaimed. "What are you doing, buying beads?"

"That's what! Same old stuff, Queen of Spades in the parade and driving a chariot in the hippodrome. Yeah, I did think I'd quit the business—bought a nice rooming house. But I went to the Colonial the other night, and saw a troupe in a stunt called 'A Night at the Circus,' and say, when the curtain went up and I saw that side show band and heard about four of those blue notes from that clarinet, I knew the wanderlust had seized me, and I rushed down to John Ringling the next day and joined out with the circus. Sousa never saw the day when he could make a band sound just that good to me."

When the acrobat returned to his cozy cot that night, full of plans for the future, his spouse received everything he said in an apathetic fashion, and even brushed away a superstitious tear which had gathered in the corner of her eye. He told her of having met Mr. Ringling that day, and also that he intended to run up to Bridgeport the next day to look the gang over and cut up some old money.

Bright and early in the morning he landed at Bridgeport, and coming to the circus winter quarters the first sound that greeted his ears was the callopes, which was being overhauled and made ready for the road. A squad of workmen were stretching the tents, which had been laid away all winter. Every one greeted him warmly.

Looking around, he saw the herd of elephants making all kinds of strange noises known to the elephant verbiage. The sight was new to him, much for him, bringing back, as it did, a scene down in the swamps of Arkansas, where he and his wife were pinned down in a mass of debris on the banks of a marshy river. The elephant had reached down his trunk and one by one removed the timbers, until finally, twisting his trunk about his body, the beast had lifted him out of danger.

But that was a long time ago. He saw two small boys steal around, pull up the flap of the tent, dash under it, like mad, in spite of the fact that the tent door was open and there was no need of that.

Gulping down his Adam's apple, he rushed for a train for New York, hurrying into the circus office he exclaimed:

"Give me my contract for next season." "Hold on," said the circus manager. "What about those contracts with the Williams circus? Do you think he'll let you cancel?"

"Oh, I don't want to cancel. I only want the dates set back until the circus season closes."

People in Long Acre square were surprised to see a man with his hair disheveled running as if his life depended on it into the United Booking office.

"What are your contracts, I thank you very much, but I can't play the time this season."

"Well, I never ate at Delmonico's," said the acrobat, and hurried to the nearest telephone, and with fear and trembling informed his wife that he had canceled the vaudeville and signed with the circus. He listened breathlessly to hear what she would have to say.

"Oh, I'm (sob), I'm (more sobs), so-so glad. Can I go, too?" "Now, ain't that just like a woman? Here I was afraid there would be a squawk when she heard I was going, and she was homesick all the time for the lot and wouldn't tell me. Now, I got to hustle and get my trunk and circus trunks. Sorry I gave mine away to that vaudeville fellow."

Up in the United Booking office lay a bunch of contracts that seemed to feel that they had been unjustly deserted, and when Mr. Williams' secretary inquired of him why the proposition should be made of the acrobatic family contracts he said:

"Just put them away and write on them 'Alleged by the Sawdust.'"

"Fears ago he, too, had been a member of the craft, and understood, 'You Safe Medicine for Children.' Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a safe and effective medicine for children as it does not contain opiates or harmful drugs. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is in a yellow package. ## "THE MOST DANGEROUS ANIMAL ON EARTH"

How the Fly Transmits Typhoid—He Lives on Fifth Only—The Way to Fight Him.

By EDWARD HATCH, JR.

(Mr. Hatch is chairman of the "Fly-fighting committee" of the American Civic Association which is chiefly responsible for the national campaign against the fly, which is now being carried on. His committee has issued many "tracts" against the fly, including the pamphlet, "How to Fight the Fly," and the leaflet, "Beware of the Dangerous House Fly." These are sent all over the country to individuals and organizations who wish to aid in the work of fly extermination by starting local campaigns of education.)

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

"The land was corrupted by reason of the swarm of flies," says the Book of Exodus, referring to the plague of these insects in Egypt. The common house fly has followed mankind since the dawn of history. He lives only where man has made his home. Though the sacred writers had some appreciation of the pestiferous nature of the fly, it is only comparatively recently that we have learned that he deserves the title of the most dangerous animal on earth."

Dr. Daniel D. Jackson, finding that flies only where man has made his home, set a large number of traps at different points on the west and east river shores in New York city. The captives were found to carry innumerable fecal bacilli on their legs and bodies. One which was caught in South street had more than 125,000 on him. By means of a map which indicated the cases of typhoid and intestinal diseases by black dots, he proved that the increase in the number of these diseases was in direct proportion to the number of flies. The vast majority of the cases were in the parts of the city nearest the polluted water front.

A thorough going reform of the sanitary condition in the district about the city hall was suggested by some system of sewerage disposal would, Dr. Jackson stated in the report of the investigation, reduce the yearly deaths from 7,000 to 2,000, if germ infected flies were not permitted to contaminate the milk supply. It is also estimated that the reform as recommended would reduce the number of cases of typhoid from 50,000 annually.

As the result of investigations carried on in various parts of the world, the United States department of agriculture proposed the name of "typhoid fly" as a substitute for that of house fly.

The earliest convincing evidence of the dissemination of the typhoid germ by the house fly was furnished by doctors who investigated camp conditions during the Spanish-American war. It was found that the flies, whose mess tents were protected by screens suffered proportionately less from typhoid fever than those whose mess tents were not guarded and the fever gradually disappeared in the fall of 1893 with the approach of cold weather and the consequent disabling of the fly.

"Nothing was more noticeable," says Dr. Dunne, "than the fall in the typhoid cases during the winter months. Missions from typhoid fever coincident with the killing off of the flies at the advent of the cold nights of May and June."

Dr. G. N. Kober of Washington has estimated that the decrease in the typhoid cases during the United States through typhoid fever is more than $350,000,000 annually. Although physicians do not agree as to the proportion of responsibility for typhoid which must be credited to flies, polluted water and infected milk, most of them agree that flies are the cause of a very important part. The people of this country spend over $10,000,000 annually for screens to protect themselves against flies and mosquitoes. The monetary cost to the nation because of the fly even without the infinitely more important consideration that should make each of us guard the health and life of ourselves and our families, forms an effective argument in favor of the extermination of the fly pest.

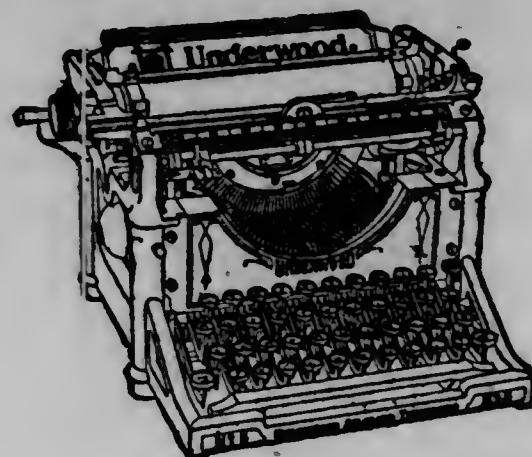

For the fly plague need not be endured as a visitation of Providence. It may be stamped out by the systematic adoption by individuals and by the public of the method of cleanliness. The fly is born in filth and is allowed to accumulate in a house or its neighborhood. It will not be troubled by flies, for it does not ordinarily stray far from their breeding places and their sources of food. In a thoroughly clean neighborhood they cannot live in the face of screens preventing their access to food and in the absence of manure heaps and other receptacles for filth in which to deposit their eggs.

The investigation by Dr. Jackson into the relations existing between flies and sewerage led to the formation of a special committee of the American Civic Association to urge the extermination of the fly. This committee, besides publishing literature on the subject, arranged for the manufacture of a moving picture film entitled "The Fly Pest," which has been shown in hundreds of moving picture halls. Lantern slides illustrating the same subject as the film are loaned to responsible persons who make application to the committee. A traveling exhibit consisting of photographs and placards, warning against the fly pest, is also to be had by local organizations. The fly fighting committee offers substantial cash prizes for essays on "The House Fly as a Carrier of Disease," written by children of the primary and grammar school classes. Application to be included in the list of cities in which these contests are to be carried on are to be made to Edward Hatch, Jr., 156 Fifth avenue, New York city. A "White List" of hotels and summer resorts that precautions against the fly pest is also to be prepared, and information in regard to it may be had by writing the chairman of the committee at the same address.

The methods of ridding a neighborhood of flies are comparatively simple and would be to a fly fighter with despotic power over a community, for to insure the success of this work, co-operation is absolutely essential. A carefully conducted stable may nullify the conscientious efforts of a whole neighborhood of fly fighters. While the creation of a spirit which shall bring home to each householder his responsibility for maintaining sanitary conditions on his premises is necessary, the health officer is the most effective single agent for carrying out this reform.

BILL FOR WEEK OPENING SUNDAY MATINEE, APRIL 30th

MASON, KEELER & COMPANY Home quartet Keeler are two of the cleverest actors ever seen in vaudeville. Do you remember them in "A Stubborn Cinderella"? They are just as funny in vaudeville.

GALLETTI'S MONKEYS The first big money act we've had, and the best we are likely to have.

JARVIS AND HARRISON A bully good singing, dancing and dialogue act, neat, bright and refined.

FRED HAMEL AND KIDS An amusing musical novelty act, called "A Morning Rehearsal."

MIGNONETTE KOKIN She impersonates comedienne of other lands. Ask any old-time Orpheum patron about her.

GLEN ELLISON A clean-cut young Englishman, who has a thorough musical education, and who knows how to sing a popular song.

THE OKURA JAPS Another Jap acrobatic act, and a good one.

The Kirodome and the Orpheum Concert Orchestra will complete the bill.

PRICES: Matinees, 25 Cents except Sundays and holidays. Nights, 15, 25, 50, 75c.

NORMAL NOTES

Mrs. Eugene Clay Smith entertained the school Thursday morning in chapel by singing two delightful songs, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from the opera, "Samson and Delilah," was her first song and for an encore Mrs. Smith sang "Year's at the Spring." As Mr. and Mrs. Smith will leave for Chicago Monday to make their home, this will probably be the last time she will be heard at the normal school.

The Greyson Literary society entertained at a banquet last evening in the music room. Miss Elizabeth Waser acted as a hostess. In her absence who were called on for toasts were: Miss Ella Carlson, who toasted the Greyson society; Helen Nelson, who talked on "The Younger Set"; Betsy Duclot and Agnes, who toasted the juniors and seniors; and Lila Peterson, who toasted "The Boys." The members of the society who are teaching in the city were present, and among the members were: President and Mrs. Bohannon, Miss Quillard and Miss Vost. After the banquet the evening was spent in dancing.

The superintendents of some of the range towns visited the school Friday and were served lunch in the dining room. Among the visitors were: Supt. Barnes of Elbow, Supt. Gilroy of Nashua, County Supt. Young, Supt. Freeman of Grand Rapids, Supt. Nelson of Two Harbors, Supt. Hibbing, Supt. Van Dyke of Coleraine, Supt. Flynn of Duluth, Supt. Lunn of Biwabik, Supt. Van Dyke spoke to the students in chapel Friday morning.

The hour for the singing class has been changed from 3:30 to 1 o'clock on Mondays and Thursdays.

Miss Pettigrew will resume her work at the school Monday morning in absence of about two months. Miss Quillard, who has been in charge of the domestic science classes, will return to the Stout training school for the remainder of the school year.

Miss Taylor entertained the girls at the house meeting Tuesday evening by singing several Scotch songs.

The Glee club gave two very pretty songs in chapel yesterday morning. The first was "Summer Fantasies" by Summerling and the other "Night Has a Thousand Eyes" by Lynes.

Among those who visited the school this week were: Elsie Overman, Hildegard Snyder of Brainerd and Clara Sullivan.

At the luncheon given for the range superintendents yesterday several of the senior girls assisted Miss Quillard.

Laura Hamlin is now teaching in Hibbing.

Mrs. Amundson of Coleraine visited her daughter, Dolly, at Torrance hall this week. Miss Amundson is spending Saturday and Sunday at Torrance hall. Miss Dottie Cater of Two Harbors is visiting her sister, Capt. Cater, at Torrance hall over Sunday.

President Bohannon's class in school management finished its course Monday, when the final examination was given.

The Thalian society, which was to have been given yesterday afternoon, has been postponed until next Friday afternoon.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL HAPPENINGS IN CLUBDOM AND THE MUSICAL CIRCLES

Great Interest in Minneapolis Orchestra Concerts—The Duluth Choral Club Concert—Events of the Past Week.

THE advance subscriptions to date for the spring series of concerts to be presented at the Lyceum, June 2 and 3 by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, exceeded by 50 per cent all past records. The Duluth population has never been so interested in a concert announcement nor at any time in the past has the response been so prompt and cordial. Every indication promises a series of three brilliant and successful concerts.

The series has been arranged as in previous years. Friday evening, June 2, there will be the opening concert and as the feature for this evening Mr. Oberholfer has chosen to play the Beethoven Symphony No. 2, "Eroica," which the great master planned to honor Napoleon. When the Frenchman had himself crowned emperor, Beethoven, a great lover of democracy, tore from his symphony the title page dedicating it to Napoleon and let the symphony stand in memory of a great man. The work is one of the greatest and has not previously been played in Duluth.

Saturday afternoon there will be a popular matinee and Saturday night the series will close with a concert of operatic numbers from Italian, French and German operas. Aside from the orchestra members the assisting soloists will be: Lucille Tewkesbury, soprano; Genevieve Wheat, contralto; Miss Stenberg-Hall, soprano; Charles Hargreaves, tenor; and Marcus Keller, bass.

There will be a children's matinee Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, tickets for which will be available at all schools of the city. The subscription does not include tickets for the children's matinee, but the children and the tickets sold for a small sum. Mr. Oberholfer has expressed special pleasure in presenting the matinee to Duluth children and for this year he has chosen a particularly attractive program.

The Minneapolis orchestra is this year out on an eleven weeks' tour. Early in March the organization appeared in Chicago at the home of the Theodore Thomas orchestra and the press was unanimous in cordial appreciation of the Minnesota orchestra. Among the press reviews were the following:

"The Tribune said 'Not since the last visit of the Boston Symphony orchestra has a body of players been accorded a reception such as this one from the Northwest. It attained proportions that may justly be described as a demonstration. The orchestra is deemed to play an important part in the musical development of the country.'"

"The Examiner wrote: 'Director Oberholfer has developed an orchestra of the first rank. After the performance which the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra gave last night at Orchestra hall, that organization must be reckoned with as one of the leading orchestras of America.'"

"Way up in the Northwest they are proving, as Chicago proved years ago, that where the leader who believes and dares, appears, the people will gather around him and hold up his hands. Minneapolis and Mr. Oberholfer have found one another, to the good fortune of each, and working loyally together have put another of our cities on the musical map."

It was exciting to feel the grasp the conductor had on his purpose, the manner in which he could bend the men to his will, and the dominating force of his personality with the audience. After the third movement they gave him a great demonstration, and at the close of the symphony there were cheers for him and for the men.

Then it comes to summing it all up they have an orchestra of which they may well feel proud, under a conductor who is a master. Over details of interpretation there is the possibility of endless discussion, but when we hear a conductor who has trained an orchestra like this, we recognize a big man. We take out hat to Mr. Oberholfer." Eric Denhamer in the Inter-Ocean wrote: "The feature of the evening concert was the playing of Tchaikovsky's 'Pathétique' Symphony."

Mr. Oberholfer's reading was electric. There may be reason to quarrel with the tempi, but that is largely a matter of taste; moreover, when a man justifies his selection of speeds by his interpretation, there remains nothing to be written. This is exactly what Mr. Oberholfer did. The visit of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra was thoroughly enjoyable. Mr. Oberholfer has confirmed the excellent reports of his musicianship brought back from the Northwest city from time to time by members of the local musical colony. The organization over which he presides is worthy of the confidence and loyalty of its clientele. And when one pauses to remember that this orchestra has been only eight years in the building, the wonder of it comes home.

Glenn Hillard Dunn in the Tribune, wrote: "Mr. Oberholfer convinces the public by his sincerity and his temperament. The musician at the same time is fascinated by the many new lights which he is able to throw upon the hackneyed work (the Tchaikovsky symphony). The somewhat obvious contrapuntal art of Tchaikovsky he invests with a logic it does not really possess, by the means we have heard previously a sentimental melody supported by much active figuration, and reveals massive streams of tone that move in opposed directions in the trusted choirs of the orchestra. Thus he is able to make the so-called 'development' section of the first movement not merely an effective return to the emotional color of the beginning, but an example of his stately proportions, as well as by the epic intensity of its emotional expression. Again he ennobles the sentimental, and theme by the tonal beauty of the first violins, as well as by the simplicity with which he voiced its lyric utterance."

The Choral Club. MUSIC, for the joy it gives, is the beginning and end of the Duluth Choral club, an organization of singers formed to fill a place unoccupied in the widening musical life of the city. This newly formed society, which will give its first concert Tuesday, May 30, at the Lyceum, has as its purpose to give a mixed one with Nels W. Gade's "The Erl King's Daughter," as the foundation.

The solo parts in this will be taken by: Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw, who will sing the part of Sir Oluf's mother in the opera, is an established favorite here and her voice is well suited to the part.

Miss Clara Williams of Minneapolis will sing the title role, the mystic part of the mad woman whose death she is a favorite soprano in her home city and as well as she has been heard here many times. She has appeared before the Matinee Musicals several times and her voice is well suited to the part.

George Sufell, who is a part of the chorus, is a soprano in her home city and as well as she has been heard here many times. She has appeared before the Matinee Musicals several times and her voice is well suited to the part.

The chorus which has been limited to forty has been rehearsing the chorus parts for this beautiful work of the Danish composer, and the quality of tone maintained its shading and precision has been well worked out under the leadership of Alfred Wiley, who has been chosen conductor of the club.

Mr. Wiley is a singer of distinction himself but his ability to communicate to those under him the meanings, the feelings, even the emotions so that they sing with one voice and one spirit marks him as a leader of the organization and the musical history of Duluth, which gives cordial support to the group and aims at its future.

Officers Chosen. THE annual meeting of the Duluth Choral Club, Tuesday, the following officers were elected: Mrs. D. W. Williams, president; Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, vice president; Mrs. E. B. Miller, recording secretary; and treasurer; Mrs. Charles Roberts, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Jerome, chairman program committee; Mrs. Carey and Mrs. Boyington, delegates to state federation at Sauk Center.

Socialism and Christ. HE fifth in a series of lectures recitals by Alice L. Booth, Tuesday, the following officers were elected: Mrs. D. W. Williams, president; Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, vice president; Mrs. E. B. Miller, recording secretary; and treasurer; Mrs. Charles Roberts, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Jerome, chairman program committee; Mrs. Carey and Mrs. Boyington, delegates to state federation at Sauk Center.

Any man who desires an acquaintance with world literature, even in outline, must know something of the great living Spanish dramatist, Echegaray is now a very old man, resting on well-earned laurels at the Spanish capital.

"He is universally regarded, with Lopez de Vega and Calderon, as forming a trinity of highest theatrical spirits in the annals of Spain. Versatile in a speech before the curtain, said: 'If we have passed the lesson of this play to you, have the footlights, we feel that in doing this much, we have secured alone the cause of art, but of morals.'"

In the original Spanish version Echegaray has given us a drama written in the simplicity of a Greek play.

DR. N. I. RUBINKAM. he has devoted himself to the historic and tropic music—creating at least sixty dramas for the stage. Echegaray is known as a Spanish Isen or Tolstoi. He was crowned with the Nobel prize, the Academy of Sweden, and regarded as a literary hero by the Spanish literati, and by the rest of his country.

"One of his greatest masterpieces, known to the English speaking world in 'The Great Galeoto.' It has been put on the stage in its original form in America, but the best known is Nedlinger's version, entitled 'The World and His Wife.'"

In this adaptation it has been rendered in Duluth by William Faversham and Julie Ogden. In Chicago Faversham in a speech before the curtain, said: 'If we have passed the lesson of this play to you, have the footlights, we feel that in doing this much, we have secured alone the cause of art, but of morals.'"

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. John Bach conducted a study class in Esoteric Christianity, the "Sacrament" being the theme for tomorrow. This subject will be ably treated from its historical, occult, and spiritual aspects.

Executive Board Meeting. SPECIAL meeting of the executive board of the Twentieth Century club has been called for Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Neighborhood house in the West end, to consider matters relating to the several benefits which have been given for that house, and to transact any other business that may properly come up.

Last Meeting of Year. THE Bishop's club will meet Tuesday evening at the club rooms in Cathedral hall for its final meeting of the year. The program will be given by the leader and the following musical program will be given:

Piano duet—"Spanish Dance" Miss Florence Watt and Miss Lynn. Vocal solo—"My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice" Miss Clara Molloy.

Readings—Miss Agnes Johnson. Vocal solo—"Selected" Miss Agnes Johnson.

A social hour will follow with Mesdames J. H. Sullivan, Gardner, Craig, McIlhenny, Lynch, and Kenna, and Misses Sheridan, Fogarty and Vaughn.

Officers. Officers were elected as follows for next year at the final meeting of the Ladies Literary class, which was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Hegardt, 1705 East First street: President, Mrs. C. G. Traphagen; vice president, Mrs. C. G. Traphagen; and Mrs. Alexander Milne.

THE Executive Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club will meet at the clubhouse of the Lyceum on Tuesday evening of next week instead of on Monday on account of the lecture to be given by Dr. N. I. Rubinkam at the Lyceum, May 30, under the auspices of the club.

This will be the last meeting of the year for the class and every member is urged to be present. The reading of "Richard III" will be the feature of the evening.

several of the state associations of music teachers. In each of these states a small corps of officers has been chosen and thought to the preparation of a program that shall be instructive and entertaining, that shall give teachers a clearer vision, a broader grasp, and deeper confidence in the value of their work.

"Those who attend these meetings will teach a little better next year than they did last. It is no indication of incompetency to admit that they might teach better than we do, and to hope that we shall. The only perfect teacher is the quick, the faked, the charlatan. He alone possesses all knowledge and is beyond all possibility of improvement. Heaven help him—his loneliness must indeed be terrible."

"Most of us still have much to learn and if we are wise we shall enroll ourselves with those who are working faithfully for higher standards."

"There are some who believe that we can work better alone, consequently they avoid all social contact. This is a privilege. Great movements, however, usually require the combined efforts of large numbers; therefore, every musician should give his sympathy to the association. If he does nothing more than pay his dues. By so doing he will show that he is in sympathy with what others are doing even though he take no active part in it."

Musical Convention. INTEREST in the convention of the Minnesota State Music Teachers' association, to be held at Minneapolis, May 30, 31 and 32, is growing and it promises to be one of the most interesting and important musical events ever held in the state.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, will open the convention with an address and an admirable program of addresses and round tables, as well as musical entertainments will be given.

In speaking of the state associations and the Western Musical Herald, printed the following in the April issue:

"Elsewhere in this issue will be found an account of the meetings of the Lyceum on Tuesday evening of next week instead of on Monday on account of the lecture to be given by Dr. N. I. Rubinkam at the Lyceum, May 30, under the auspices of the club."

He got his idea of the drama from Dante's Divine Comedy. The Great Galeoto is the work of society—everybody—the age, with a tendency to gossip—not with evil intent—but curiously interested in two innocent persons—a man and another man's wife.

"The world, 'The Great Galeoto,' misinterprets what it sees by here and there a comment, a single word, a furtive glance, perhaps only by an indirect guess, and then it is ready to make the suppositions are focused into a group of ideas. An explosion in society is created—a catastrophe! The husband falls. The wife, beginning in a moment of exaltation, is a tenth. The woman is forced into the arms of the innocent victim. The Love of music with the majority of people is an instinct. Let a band parade the streets, and every one within sound of its tones is moved to rhythm. In the old days good music, chords of sympathy would congregate around the performers, and for a few minutes all the noisy, busy environment would be transformed to untold wealth. Music lifts the human nature, ennobles our worship, glorifies our patriotism and gives solemnity to the last earthly rites.

All great educators have taken this propensity of human nature into consideration, and in most European countries the musical education of the young is a part of the regular school curriculum.

Made in Russia. Backward as Russia is in most of the things which make up the modern environment, she has a rich musical heritage. The people she has the best musical opportunities. Her government schools of music are established, where the only condition of entrance is a desire to learn. The students are graded down to meet very low requirements.

How shall we teach people to realize the importance of a musical education in the development of the mind? There are two means at our command—the popular concert, bringing to their ears the music of the past and the individual training of the child.

Music is to be executed, and some one must know how to execute it, and this technical knowledge can only be gained by many years of earnest study. Says the late Dr. Tourjoe of the Boston Conservatory: "There is no golden shortcut to the knowledge of music; nothing but earnest, unremitting diligence will bring ability."

It is rather going round a circle to say some one must know how to perform, and some one must know how to listen, then those who listen in turn become anxious either to themselves study, or to have their children study and their young people learn how to listen.

The very highest expression of pure music is found in the orchestra. We had a great treat when the St. Paul orchestra was here. We are going to have another when the Minneapolis orchestra comes in June. Shall we appreciate their performances?

A great writer says: "You know the difference between a real musician and one who merely cares to be thought a musician, by the way in which they speak of a promised program. The musician says, 'What is going to be performed?' the would-be musician says, 'Who is going to perform?'"

What the composition is the matter of vital importance to the trained musician. It is only by carefully training good listeners that we can hope to keep up our standards for our great orchestras; and yet, it is only by training performers that we can hope to keep up our standards for our large city audiences.

There are some here in our city who have been doing good work in the line of training audiences. I refer especially to the popular concerts given by Gustave Flato's conservatory orchestra in Sweden, and regarded as a literary hero by the Spanish literati, and by the rest of his country.

Musical program and dancing.

The Western Curling club of West Duluth will officially wind up the 1910-1911 season with its fifth annual banquet, which will be held next Thursday evening at Wade's hall. The program has been completed and only a few details are left to arrange. It is expected that covers will be laid for 150. The supper this year will be served by the women of Holy Apostle's Episcopal church. The banquet will be served at 8:30 o'clock sharp. It is planned to have the program over with in order that dancing may begin at 9:30 o'clock.

The program will consist of speeches, musical numbers and the presentation of the trophies by the donors. Walter M. Evers, president, will make the address of welcome and will introduce the speakers. He will give short talks. Flanigan's orchestra will furnish the musical program.

The curlers had a very successful season the past winter. Nine trophies were put up and fortunately there was plenty of time to finish play in all of them before the warm weather came. The list of trophies and their donors and winners is as follows:

The Hurst rink, four medals, donated by W. F. Hurst, jeweler, won by the A. G. Macauley rink.

The Esterly event, silver cup, donated by E. E. Esterly, jeweler, won by the Judson rink.

The Bagley event, silver cup, donated by Bagley & Co. Jewelers, won by the Judson rink.

The Burns event, silver cup and in-laid, donated by Burns & Co. Lumber company, won by Wade's Kids.

The Union Match event, silver cup and four cases of matches, donated by the Union Match company, won by the Judson rink.

The West Duluth Commercial club event, four buttons and cup, donated by the club, won by the Brown rink.

The Hennricksen event, silver cup, donated by Hennricksen, jeweler, won by the Judson rink.

The James Smith trophy, a special Washington's birthday event, a cut-glass punch bowl set, was won by the Judson rink.

The Swanson trophy, a special Christmas day event, donated by A. E. Swanson, four boxes of cigars, won by the Method rink.

The committee on arrangements for the banquet consisted of the newly elected officers of the club, who are as follows: President, E. E. Esterly; vice president, C. R. Keyes; secretary, W. B. Getchell; treasurer, W. B. Getchell.

The Western Curling club of West Duluth will officially wind up the 1910-1911 season with its fifth annual banquet, which will be held next Thursday evening at Wade's hall. The program has been completed and only a few de-

RUNAWAY GIRL IS DETAINED

Will Be Sent Back to Her Home in Virginia.

Zera Hunt, 15 years of age, was taken to police headquarters by Sergeant Barber of the West Duluth force on an early morning shift. She had been located by him at the Cody hotel, Ramsey street and Central avenue. She was brought in at the request of the Virginia police, who telephoned the local police that she had fled away from her home in the range city Thursday evening, accompanied by Olive Rosewell, a girl companion.

It was stated that they had started to drive to Duluth. They reached the West Duluth hotel from Fractor about midnight. The Hunt girl's mother reached the city Thursday morning and the police that her daughter would be home with her. It appears that the girl had been working in a millinery store at Virginia and, dissatisfied because she was not being paid, decided to run away with the Rosewell girl, who has been traveling for a considerable time. She told the Rosewell girl that she was 18 years of age.

Chicken Thief Busted.
A thief entered the henhouse of K. B. Olson, living at 6023 Grand avenue, last evening. He stole four chickens and a Plymouth Rock fowl and one rooster. Mr. Olson called to the police station this morning with the complaint and wanted the police to investigate.

West Duluth Briefs.
Rev. J. A. McGahey will preach at the morning service at 10:30 o'clock and Rev. E. F. Stoll will occupy the pulpit at the evening service at 7:30 p. m. at the West Duluth church, Sixteenth avenue west and Raleigh street, tomorrow.

The home of Noncexell ice cream, Murray Bros.
The Sylvia Singing school will hold its annual May festival at Great Eastern hall Thursday evening, May 11. Plans are now being made.

The annual business meeting of the West Duluth Baptist church will take place next Thursday evening at the church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenue.

Any kind of draying or moving, Call, Melrose 25-M; Cole 320-V.
A meeting of the West Duluth Socialist club will be held tomorrow afternoon at Victoria hall, Grand avenue. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. St. Marie of 313 Oneonta street are the parents of a daughter, born yesterday.

Edward Stevenson and George McDowell returned yesterday from a fishing trip to French river.
Winnipeg Girl for general housework, 5505 West Sixth street.
Mrs. Rudolph Siegel broke her leg while coming down stairs yesterday afternoon at her home, 119 North Fifth street.

A May social will be held Monday evening at the Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street. It will be under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society.

Watch repairing, Hurst, W. Duluth.

SALOON MEN ARE WARNED

Police Say Liquor Dealers Encourage Boys to Steal Beer Bottles.

Twelve Youngsters Admit Selling Stolen Property to Saloonkeepers.

That certain West Duluth saloonkeepers are encouraging young boys to steal, was the declaration this morning of Lieut. Charles Wilcox of the West Duluth police. He said that if this practice was not discontinued, that their names would be made public and an example made of some of them.

Within the past three days, twelve boys have admitted to Lieut. Wilcox the theft of beer bottles from the rear of saloons and other places, where they have been left in cases and the sale of these bottles to saloonkeepers. Lieut. Wilcox said today that the modern beer department machinery and greatly improved his knowledge of the apparatus which is in use here. He said that if any further information came to his attention that saloonkeepers were encouraging these boys to steal beer bottles, he said, only encourage the youngsters to attempt further thefts.

WILL TRY TO REUNITE CHURCH.

Rev. Allen Clark has come to West Duluth from the city of Duluth with a view to reorganizing the congregation of Plymouth Congregational church, which has been without a pastor since it was split up into factions and its pastor, Rev. D. G. Cole, ousted, nearly two years ago.

He will preach tomorrow morning at the church, which is located on west and Bristol street. He will also conduct services at New Duluth in the evening.

MOTOR BOATS WILL BE OUT SUNDAY.

Motor boat enthusiasts of West Duluth expect to turn out in large numbers on the St. Louis river tomorrow. It is expected that the boats will be put into the water tomorrow and that the river will be the scene of much merry-making.

The low water in the river this spring hampers the progress of the motor boats in places, but if the boat men keep in the channel, there is no chance of being stranded on a sand bar.

Socialists Will Meet.
At a meeting of the Scandinavian Socialist club, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at Great Eastern hall, central avenue, the standard is a large one and cost the club $50. There will be a program followed by refreshments.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FAST TRACK FOR DUAL MEET

Gophers and Badgers Are Expected to Break Some Records.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 23.—A faster track than the one at Northrop field, where the Minnesota and Wisconsin track teams contest in a dual meet this afternoon, could not be asked. A dampening rain fell yesterday and during the night and the track is pronounced in perfect condition.

It is expected the meet will be profitable of some high records. Each institution has its best athletes in the meet and it would not be a great surprise to see some records established.

Thirty men from Wisconsin arrived in the city yesterday and through a light workout this morning. The Wisconsin contingent is headed by Capt. Richardson. The Gophers have been preparing for the meet throughout the week and are reportedly in shape. Stanley Hill is captain of the Gophers. Particular interest is centered in the 100 and 220-yard dashes as both of the captains are entered in the events.

The meet will be preceded by a baseball game between the Gophers and Badgers. The athletic contests will be staged immediately after the game which will start at 1 p. m.

CARGILLS DEFEATED BY CHESTER PARK SLUGGERS.

There was a lively game of ball this morning at Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street between the Cargill team and the Chester Park Sluggers. The Sluggers were victorious, the score standing 13 to 6. The batteries were: For the Cargills, Friedman and Carl Ericson; for the Sluggers, Cullen, Hennricksen and M. J. Zauf.

SCHAEFER SAYS FITWELLS SHOWED WHITE FEATHER.

A baseball row has already begun. That is one of the very first signs that the season is on. The manager of the All-Stars, a team composed of some of the best ball players around Duluth, charge in blunt words and with heated emphasis that the Fitwells showed a pair of frosted toes and deliberately laid down when it came to the final details of settlement for a game between the Fitwells and the All-Stars.

According to the statement of Manager Frank Schaefer of the All-Stars, the Fitwells manager wanted a game with a side bet. When the All-Star money was deposited, Schaefer says the Fitwells flunked and refused to play with any side bet proviso. The Fitwells manager, who was originally carried to play at Athletic park, this game was to make a double header with the Adams-Columbia contest. The failure of the two teams to get together resulted in the securing of a game with Hibbing by the manager of the All-Stars. Schaefer says his team is open to meet any team in the state, and in the case of the Fitwells it is an incident where money counts.

Looking for "Horse."

New York, April 23.—"Parsen" Davies and John R. Rogers sailed today for Europe in quest of the "white man's horse." Davies, former manager of John L. Sullivan and other pugilists, stumped long enough beside the game plank of the Caledonia to express the opinion that racing was not "coming back." Rogers was spokesman on the pugilistic quest matter.

Rain Stops Game.

Rockford, Ill., April 23.—The game scheduled for yesterday between the Duluth White Sox and the Rockford team, was postponed, owing to rain. Last night the prospects were bright for clear weather and it is probable that the contest will be played today.

FISHERMEN!

CHILDREN TAKEN FROM PARENTS

A man and woman from Buhl put up a hard fight in juvenile court this morning to prevent their six children from being taken from them and made wards of the state. The humane officer's report was so fascinating to the judge that he decided that the children would be far better off at the state school at Owatonna than at home. Accordingly, five of the children were made wards of the state, while the mother was allowed to keep the oldest infant in arms. She was warned, however, that any further reports of misconduct would result in the oldest child being taken also.

On complaint from neighbors of the family, the case was investigated by the humane officer, who found a miserable state of affairs. The father and mother are both addicted to the use of intoxicants, it is said, and neighbors often gave the children shelter when conditions were such that some rent they could not remain there. The children were not sent to school; they were given little or no attention, and it was finally decided that they should be taken away.

After the case had been decided in court, the woman protested vehemently. She endeavored to make the courthouse with two of the children, and the officers had considerable trouble inducing her to relinquish them. The woman was partially paid when she was explained that the children would not be sent to the training school at Red Wing, but to the state public school at Owatonna.

BAKERS MAY QUIT WORK

Strike Has Been Declared, Effective at Once—Meeting Scheduled.

Union Men Will Probably Walk Out, Employers Refusing Wage Advance.

At a late hour today their employers had not granted the demands of the Duluth bakers, and a strike seemed inevitable. The strike has been declared and the men will stop work tonight unless their requests are acceded to.

There are sixteen shops in Duluth and all of the workers are members of the bakers' union, which is affiliated with the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America.

The sixty-five bakers in the local union want an increase of $1 a week. It was thought that twelve of the sixteen shops had decided to grant the request, but later the twelve shops refused to meet the workers' terms and a strike was decided upon. A special meeting of bakers will be held tonight in Kalamazoo hall, 18 West Superior street, to discuss the situation.

Marcel, general organizer of the international union, with offices at Chicago, is in Duluth to guide the local union through its troubles. He said that Duluth bakers are the poorest paid workers of this description in the Northwest. He said night foremen are now receiving $19 a week, oven men $17 and bench hands $16. Day foremen are getting $18 a week, oven men $16 and bench workmen $15. The union demands that its members shall receive an increase of $1 a week each.

The workers have made no formal request for recognition of their union, believing that if they obtain their request the compliance of the employers would amount to a recognition of their organization.

The bakers display considerable ignorance, assumed or real, concerning the situation. Several who were interviewed today said they knew nothing about the situation. Another declared that the strike could be called "for all he cared." The bakers will not decline to take the places of the men who have been laid off, but they will not work for a leader among the bakers he did not know and that he had nothing to say.

That a strike would cause a bread famine among the hotels and restaurants as well as in a large portion of the residential districts, is probable, unless bread could be brought here from other cities.

The board of health is prepared to examine any bread that may be shipped here and the same careful enforcement of the ordinance that is now being made will be continued regardless of the source of the bread supply, with during a possible strike of the bakers.

Moving Day.

SEVEN years ago James J. Hill made an address in Minnesota and the great business men of the country, and especially the great railroad men, opened their eyes in amazement.

"Hill must have reached his dotage," was the comment that some of them made.

It wasn't what Mr. Hill had said that caused this astonishment among the leaders of business. The thing they couldn't understand was simply the fact that Mr. Hill had prepared and delivered a lecture, had, in short, become to some degree a man of words, when he had been for so long a man of action, and those men accepted it as a principle, or rather, as an axiom requiring no proof. When, therefore, they heard that Mr. Hill had prepared and delivered a lecture, had, in short, become to some degree a man of words, they were sure something was wrong somewhere. They did not question the validity of the supposed axiom, and so, of course, they thought something must be wrong with Mr. Hill. It seemed to them that his vision must have become curiously twisted.

"That's the old story," said the president of one of the greatest business corporations in the United States when he heard of the famous railroad builder's venture on the lecture platform. "I have always observed," he explained, "that when a business man begins to talk his effectiveness as a business man is soon a thing of the past. We business men act. We hire our talkers."

Such views have been almost completely discarded by the great business men of today. That lecture of Mr. Hill's was, in fact, the first sign, and perhaps the chief cause, of one of the most striking changes that have taken place in the American mind since 1890, when the era of great corporations began with the reorganization of bankrupt railroads, and the working out by bankers of great systems, by which little banks with capital and surplus of a million or less, great institutions whose capital and surplus were fifty times that amount.

Mr. Hill heard of the wonder of business men because he had seen fit to talk to the public, and to some of his business friends.

"We have been letting lawyers, clerks, politicians and professional men do all the talking," they have been going on the old principle that actions speak louder than words. So they do. But I have come to the conclusion that if we men who are doing things talk to the public into our confidence, they will give us a ready ear."

Mr. Hill's words have proved true. Within the past five years it has become a frequent practice of the heads of great corporations to give lectures and to write addresses and articles of an extraordinary character.

The great business men of America are now doing more than that. They are now using their own words to do what their paid counsel used to do. They have found out that they can talk to the public and enlighten, even persuade, the public. They have been heard by great audiences. Some with more facility for writing than for public speaking, have published books, or contributed to the magazines, articles that have attracted wide attention.

A big manufacturer tries public speaking.

A notable case is that of John S. Dickson of Houston, Tex. One of the largest manufacturers of the South-west, he has gained recognition during the past few years throughout that part of the country as a speaker of remarkable force, who always commands interest and attention, and whose words and suggestions are sure to receive serious consideration. A very large influence in his own state is attributed to his utterances, and it is said that his speeches and addresses have molded public opinion on many important questions, as no other single agency has done.

Mr. Dickson turned public speaker in much the same way as Mr. Hill did. Some seven or eight years ago, after a study of industrial and political conditions in Texas, he came to the conclusion that both sides of the great questions affecting business in its relation to the public and the government had not been adequately presented, and that the side that had received insufficient attention could best be presented by a business man. Texas was then, and had been for nearly a decade previously, one of the most radical states in the Union in its attitude toward railroads and corporations. Mr. Dickson made up his mind that if the people were appealed to fairly and candidly in speeches and printed articles, they could be led to accept much more conservative views than those which in all sincerity they had held for some time.

"I will speak and I will write," he said, and so he began his campaign. He made no attempts at oratorical effects. Like all the business men who have taken up public speaking, he wrote his addresses in advance, and delivered them with manuscript in hand. The impression he made from the platform was that of a man whose sole object was to present the facts in a way that could not be misunderstood. And he always had facts to present. Facts, a fine presence, a clear voice and a manner earnest from conviction, convinced him that he was doing his duty, and they proved an attractive combination. Mr. Dickson always found an audience.

The change that has been wrought in public opinion in Texas since Mr. Dickson began to speak is reflected in the record of the Texas legislature, which during the last year having passed no act aimed at corporations and only three laws affecting railroads, and only three bills introduced by railroad managers. Governor Colquhoun of Texas had predicted that this conservative course will have the result of causing an influx of capital for investment in the state.

Howard Elliott discovered his gift. Northern Pacific railroad, furnished a striking example of the great business man who has discovered that he has the gift of speech. For thirty years Elliott was his reluctance that in spite of the important positions in railroad management that he held, he had very little about him, although, of course, he was well known to the leaders of great business.

One day last summer Mr. Elliott received an invitation to address a great gathering of farmers in the state of Washington, and he surprised some of his friends and perhaps himself by accepting it. But he had noted that the people were ready to hear him, and he had something to say. On that oc-

Gen. Bancroft a Real Orator.

Gen. William A. Bancroft, president of the Boston Elevated Railroad system, one of the largest rapid transit lines in the United States, affords, however, the instance of the business man and man of action who possesses the gift of speech. He has been a man of strenuous activity, yet he finds time and inclination to deliver addresses dealing with philosophical way with the larger problems of living and industry. A few weeks ago, for instance, before the New England Street Railway Association he delivered a lecture in which he discussed and spoke warningly of the tendency to substitute pure democracy for the rule of the government. In this address he employed rhetorical devices with even more than his usual word. He made frequent use of eloquent gesture, and made effects of contrast and climax by the modulation of his voice. His utterance was, as usual, forceful, his sentences terse and to the point, and his vocabulary rich. All these rhetorical effects which Gen. Bancroft employs seem to be unattended and a part of his natural mode of expression.

A Banker Turned Lecturer.

Otto E. Kahn, financier and member of the greatest private banking firm in America is one of the leading business men of the country who have recently come into notice as public speakers. A short time ago Mr. Kahn delivered a lecture on the late E. H. Harriman before the Finance Forum in New York, an institution, the object of which is to provide weekly lectures on financial and economic topics to members of the Young Men's Christian Association. That lecture is now recognized by competent judges as the ablest study of Mr. Harriman that has been made, and it does not lack a markedly vivid delineation of character with a most felicitous expression. It has a literary quality that would not be looked for in the work of a man who would be supposed to be more rapidly in terms of figures. This quality was emphasized by Mr. Kahn's delivery of the address. Graceful of figure and manner, and possessing a speaking voice of an unusual quality, Mr. Kahn has a presence that attracts and interests an audience.

"I knew Mr. Harriman and I wrote to a friend who spoke in praise of his lecture. Doubtless, nevertheless, an inborn artistic instinct contributed somewhat to the success of Mr. Kahn's effort. This instinct manifested itself in an early age through an intense love of music. As a youth Mr. Kahn cast his first essay a public speaking, he faced the audience of 3,000 or more and held it interested to the end. He spoke rapidly, but with perfect distinctness, in a straightforward, businesslike manner, and while he referred constantly to his manuscript, his delivery was clear and unobscured, giving practically the impression of spontaneous utterance. He made no use of rhetorical devices, and did not seek to emphasize his statements by means of gesture, but on the contrary, let them carry their own weight.

Mr. Elliott discovered that he had a good voice for public speaking and he had no hesitancy about accepting the invitations to address public meetings that followed the success of his first effort. Within three months he had made several appearances on the platform and had established a reputation as one of the most forceful and impressive public speakers of the Northwest.

Daniel Willard Breaks His Silence.

Another great railroad manager who has been drawn into the public speaking is Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He had been for years one of the silent men intent on doing things. While he had not talked, he had thought, and his mind was full of ideas on the problems related to the business to which all his activities since he was a boy had been devoted, that of railroading. He expressed some of those ideas in a public way when he appeared as a witness at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission. He expressed them with such force and clearness that members of the commission referred to him as one of the best witnesses that had ever appeared before them. It was the impression on him made on that occasion, and a clear thinker and an interesting talker that forced Mr. Willard to the platform. His first public address was made at the annual meeting of the National Railroad Institute in New York last October. Although he kept his manuscript before him, pausing only at points of emphasis to glance at the audience, he was heard with such force and clearness that he has since been in constant demand as a public speaker.

George Westinghouse As a Public Speaker.

It never occurred to George Westinghouse until within the past year that he was something more than a public speaker. He was a trained orator and he had learned now that business men need no special training for public speaking on subjects within their province, and that if they speak with plain directness they will have the attention and not infrequently can make a more permanent impression than a trained orator can produce. In the early winter of last year Mr. Westinghouse delivered a lecture on the subject of a business association in Boston, and his success was such that he has overcome any doubts he may have had as to his ability to interest an audience. He was one of the chief speakers at the Commercial congress held in Atlanta, Ga., last March. In the speech he delivered there, he forecast some of the magical and amazing changes which the development of electricity, and especially the perfection of high grade wireless apparatus, would bring about in a few years. The picture that he then drew was far more wondrous than any ever painted by the imaginative pen of an English dreamer. H. G. Wells. One immediate result of it was the beginning of a movement for the development of the 5,000,000-horse power available from the water courses of the Appalachian range and the conversion of into electric energy with which to operate mills, trolley lines and lighting plants throughout a vast area in the South.

A Traffic Manager Who Can Interest.

Among the speakers at the Commercial congress at Atlanta was another very active business man who is gaining a reputation as an effective public speaker, R. L. McKellar, freight traffic manager of the Southern railroad. Mr. McKellar has the reputation of being the best informed man in the country on the subject of railroad freight routes in the South, and the commerce, past, present and prospective of the Southern ports. He is surpassed by no other business man in enthusiastic forecasts of what the opening of the Panama canal will mean for the South.

Before a large audience Mr. McKellar speaks as one business man addressing another, without any oratorical flourishes, yet not without appeals to the imagination, which faculty, after all, plays as important a part in great business as it does in other things. His speech at Atlanta made such an impression that it was published in the form of a brochure, and has passed into wide circulation.

Other Business Men With Oratorical Power.

William C. Brown, president of the New York Central railroad, has made many addresses in the past year or so. He has devoted himself especially to advancing arguments for a wider cultivation of the soil and the adoption of more scientific methods of farming.

Samuel Rea at the unveiling of the statue of the late A. J. Cassatt which stands in the new Pennsylvania railroad station in New York, delivered an address that commanded the attention of critics on account of its felicity of expression and its accuracy as a portrayal of the character of a great man.

Jacob H. Schiff, head of the largest private banking house in America, has become prominent in recent years as a public speaker, especially on philanthropic subjects.

John D. Rockefeller has written a book which has been published recently. Ten years ago Mr. Rockefeller would probably have as soon thought of giving away all his Standard Oil stock as becoming an author.

E. F. Yoakum, chairman of the St. Louis and San Francisco board, is one of the prominent railroad men who have become effective public speakers.

It was Mr. Yoakum's speeches that opened the eyes of the country as a whole to the real character and possibilities of the empire-like Southwest.

John D. Archbold, the present active head of the Standard Oil company, was studied music seriously with a view to making it his career, but finally decided that his greater talent lay in the direction of business.

A Railroad President Who Can Talk.

Frank Trumbull, chairman of the board of directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad had been asked five years ago to deliver an address, he would probably have been amazed and perhaps appalled at the thought. Yet Mr. Trumbull is today one of the active men of great business who have decided to deliver a speech before an economic association in New York, and did so.

He discussed what he believed to be the true relation of the railroads to the government and the people, and his remarks made a most favorable impression. Other invitations followed and he has since been in constant demand as a public speaker.

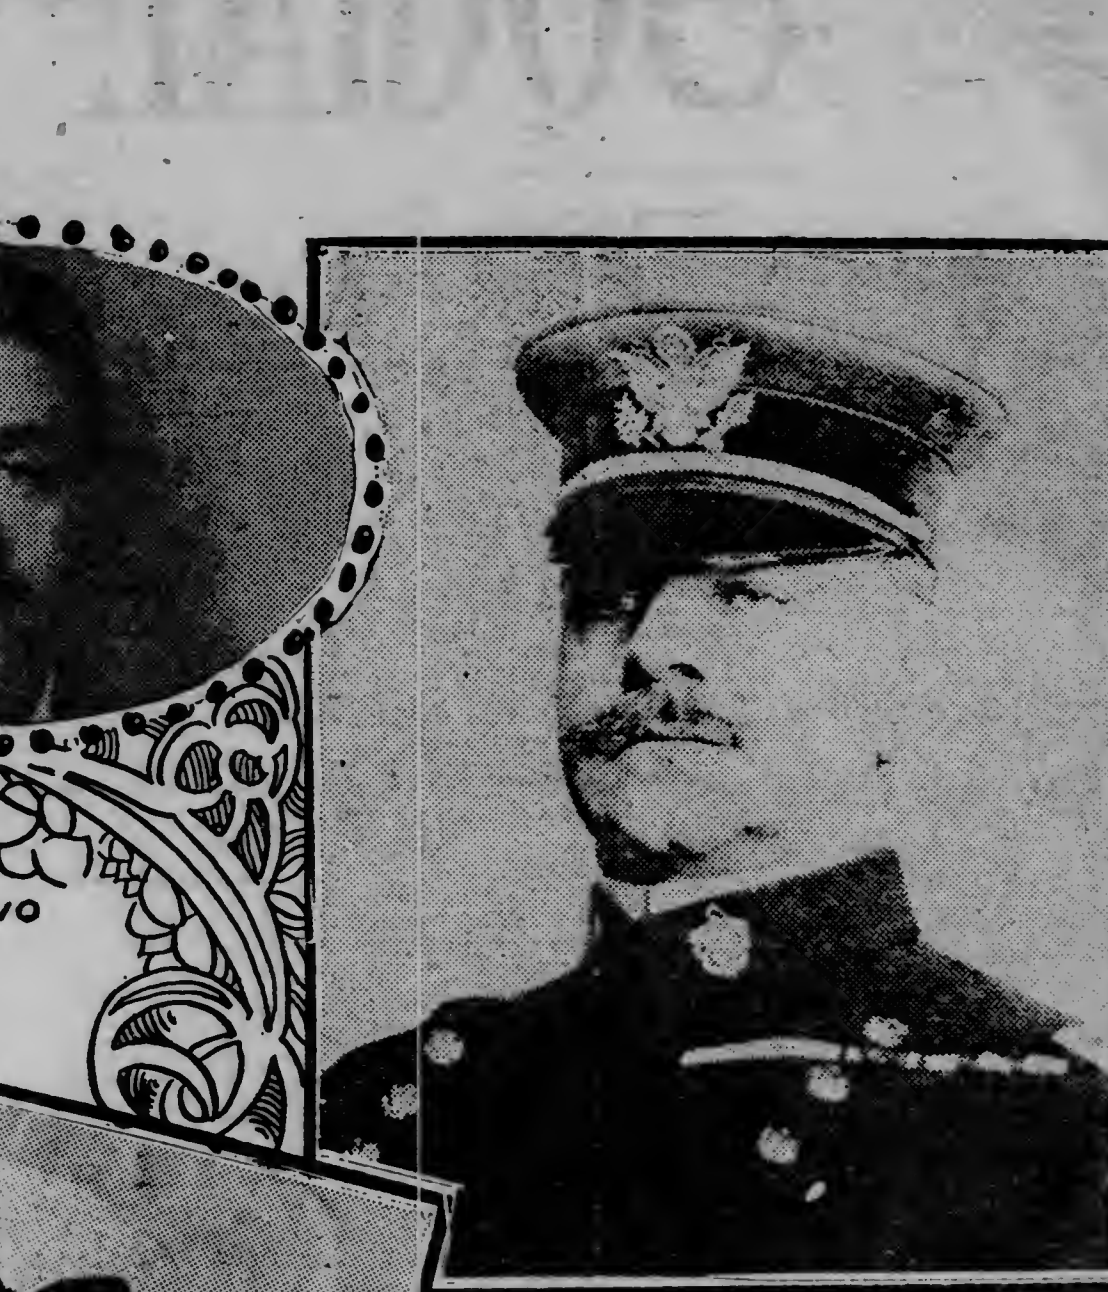

George Westinghouse As a Public Speaker.

It never occurred to George Westinghouse until within the past year that he was something more than a public speaker. He was a trained orator and he had learned now that business men need no special training for public speaking on subjects within their province, and that if they speak with plain directness they will have the attention and not infrequently can make a more permanent impression than a trained orator can produce. are Col. Henry Lee Higginson, the Boston banker, and E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchafalaya, Topoka & Santa Fe railroad. Essays from the pen of each have appeared within the last few months. Col. WHERE CITY MORTGAGES GO.

New York Sun: "When the news went forth years ago that mortgages on New York real estate were as safe and sure for investors as government bonds, it penetrated to the uttermost corners of the country and to not a few foreign lands," said a Brooklyn real estate and mortgage broker. "Some people when they think of a mortgage holder picture a rich old man, maybe a skin-flint or a miser, who stands ready to buy in the property for half its value the day after the interest is defaulted. The fact is that the small mortgages of from $1,000 to $5,000 and they are the great majority, are held by small investors, many of whom have all their savings sunk in a single mortgage. The trust companies, guarantee companies and insurance companies have the big mortgages and in the aggregate they represent the bulk of money lent on real estate, but their number is comparatively small."

"Here's a man in a little hamlet in California," said the broker, picking a letter from his desk, "who signs his name with an X. He has $1,300 invested in a mortgage in Flatbush and Mr. X has a letter written to say that he has saved $200 more and would like to add it to the $1,300. He gets only 8 per cent, but he probably could get 8 per cent at home, but he believes in New York."

"Here's a woman who lives up in the mountains in New York state at a place called 'The Pines.' It doesn't handle money orders. Her letters show neglect of education, but she has $1,000 of her own savings. In a Van Pelt Manor property."

"A year ago I placed $2,000 earned by an Alabama negro, a graduate of Tuskegee Institute, in a Bath Beach mortgage. He wrote me how pleased he was when he got his first interest payment six months ago and said that he would soon have $500 more to place if cotton held its price another season. He said he owned two mules and was a white man. He thought a black man's money was safer in New York than down South."

"One of my clients is an Indian who lives in the mountains. He got a bunch of money when Uncle Sam settled with the aborigines for their land. For the most part these mortgages were originally held in New York and have gone abroad to relatives and dependents through assignment or the settlement of estates."

"The best evidence that New York real estate mortgages are rated as A-1 gilt edge among the small capitalists all over the country is the fact that they send their money here for investment at 5 1/2 or 6 per cent from States where the legal rates are 7 or 8 per cent and the contract rates as high as 12 per cent."

MME. BERNHARDT'S CALLERS AT STAGE SUPPER.

Boston Record: Boston society in the audience at Bernhardt's performance of "Camille" were surprised at the familiar look of certain of the dinner guests in the first act. It happened thus: Some young men, who had met the divine Sarah in Paris, called on her at the theater. As they were in evening dress it was suggested that they have supper with Marguerite Gautier. They became actors at a moment's notice.

MRS. BURKE-ROCHE DISPLEASED FATHER

Fifteen Codicils in Work Will Deal With Her Inheritance.

New York, April 29.—Mrs. Francis Ellen Burke Roche, daughter of Frank Roche, who died recently, is left with fifteen codicils to her will, under the terms of which she will receive a large fortune.

Under the terms of the will, she will receive a large fortune, and the millionnaire voiced his disapproval of her matrimonial career.

Early codicils were made by Roche from James Jaffrey Burke Roche, direct that she be given $20,000 a year on condition that she remain single.

She provided also that she shall not inherit a penny of the Roche millions, about the size of the Roche millions.

Roche's name was coupled with that of Avela Batany, the wife, a codicil was added threatening to reduce her bequest to $12,000 a year unless she relinquished interest in her husband's estate.

Later Mr. Roche related and increased his bequest to his daughter to $60,000 a year. A codicil appended after her marriage to the wife retracts all provisions in his will conferring any interest in his property to Mrs. Burke Roche, and another directs the executor to provide for her support if she should separate from Batany.

To Mrs. Burke Roche's three children is left the residuary estate conditional upon their becoming American citizens, eschewing all relations with their father, and adopting the name of Batany.

Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, the oldest daughter, is to receive an allowance of $50,000 during her lifetime. An annuity of $1,500 and life interest in property in Columbia, Md., is left to Ellen and Mary Merick, nieces of the testator. James Henry Batany is left $1,000. The value of the estate is not given.

NEVER MANY MILES

North Dakotan Who Disappeared Last October Found 18 Miles From Home.

Discouraged Over Poor Crops, Wanders Across Line, Taking Job in Manitoba.

Langdon, N. D., April 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man who disappeared from his home last October, was only eighteen miles from the home he left. He has returned to the home of his brother and gives no other reason for having left except that he was discouraged over the poor crops and the debts that faced him with nothing to meet them. He started out one October morning about 11 o'clock and decided to walk until he secured work. At four miles west of Morden, Man., he got a job and has been there ever since.

His Brother Searched in vain.—Almost every newspaper in the state contained a description of the missing man for weeks and his brother spent three months traveling over the state in search of him. He finally gave up, believing the missing one had met with foul play. He finally gave up, believing the missing one had met with foul play. He finally gave up, believing the missing one had met with foul play.

He immediately drove out to the Dan Morden farm where he found the man and gave him the first intimation that he had caused any alarm.

DIGGING BIG DITCH THAT WILL DRAIN THE TWIN LAKES

BIG DREDGE THAT WORKS DAY AND NIGHT.

Karlstad, Minn., April 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twin lakes, located near the Roseau county border, in Pelee and Arneson townships of Kittson county, are being drained. Work commenced two weeks ago with one ditching machine and the other with a hand-dug ditch. The ditches are about 100 feet wide and 10 feet deep. The water is being run off into the Red River and into the Red River and into the Red River.

EARLY DULUTH HISTORY IS TOLD AT BANQUET

Interesting Paper Read By
C. E. Lovett at New Duluth.

Clouds Have Cleared Away
and Sky Is Bright,
He Says.

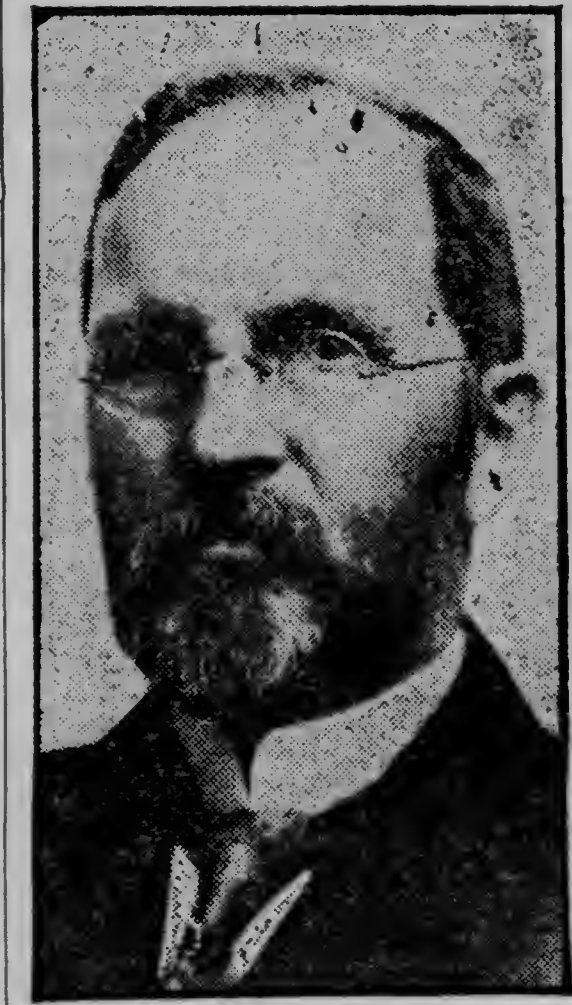

An interesting paper on the growth of Duluth, a history of the land deals that brought New Duluth into being, and a story of the setback which New Duluth sustained by commercial failures and the panic of 1893 were given at the banquet of the New Duluth Commercial club Thursday evening by C. E. Lovett, a veteran real estate man and one of the organizers of the New Duluth Land company.

Mr. Lovett's paper is interesting to those who passed through the turbulent times of twenty years ago in Duluth, because it calls up memories that are pleasant only because difficulties have been overcome. To the younger generation, the paper is history that they should know. Mr. Lovett ends with a rosy prediction of New Duluth's future and his paper was received with enthusiasm by the crowd at the banquet.

The paper follows:
"The first time I visited Duluth was on Dec. 9, 1885. At that time West Superior street from Sixteenth avenue west was not even graded, nor was any part of First street graded. Triggs & Kennedy showed me about, and offered to sell me two lots on the lower side of First street between Third and Fourth avenues west for $3,200. These same lots are fairly worth $1,000 per front foot now.

"The city looked mighty crude and the West end was grown up to bushes and except where spots had been cleared for buildings it had the appearance of wild cut-over land. Where West Duluth is (except a small area at Oneota), was what Eastern people call a 'slashing.' Where the present Grand avenue is there was a corridor road, most of the way cut through the tall bushes.

Beginning of the Boom.
"There had been a growing conviction throughout the country, and especially throughout the Northwest, that Duluth was destined to become a great city, and it was rapidly rallying from this disastrous reaction which the Jay Cooke failure and the panic of 1893 caused. Investors were coming in and buying property at prices which staggered the old settlers then, but which seemed ridiculously low in three or four years. The real estate brokers who had gone through the hard times from 1873 to 1893 were as a rule, extremely pessimistic, while the newcomers, Mr. B. Harrison, Myers Bros., Triggs & Kennedy, Gridley & Mishler and others were rank optimists and were booming the city in the most approved style.

"The result of their efforts together with the growing sentiment favorable to Duluth, was that an active real estate market began in 1893 and continued in a great boom in the winter of 1894-5. I located in Duluth Dec. 2, 1898, and boarded at the old St. Louis hotel. There were times that winter when the spacious office of the hotel, from 7 to 10:30 p. m., was so full of brokers and prospective buyers that it was difficult for a person to make his way through the crowd. The tremendous activity suddenly subsided in March and a crowd of Twin City dealers tried to transfer the boom to Ashland, but it would not work.

"During that winter the West Duluth Land company was incorporated by O. H. Simonds, R. S. Munger, Myers Bros., Judge Stearns, J. B. Casey, Judge Enslin and others. This was the first organized attempt to plat land above Oneota or to bring industries to Duluth by offering them free sites and liberal bonuses. Notwithstanding many disappointments, it was a success.

First Big Land Sale.
"In December, 1898, our firm worked up a deal which resulted in the purchase of 352 acres owned by Myers Bros. at Spirit Lake, afterwards called Spirit Lake park, and now owned by the Minnesota Steel corporation. The purchasers were: George N. Loeman & Sons, then of Milwaukee; D. H. Roe and George H. Chicago, W. C. White, J. D. Westenhelm, C. E. Lovett and R. D. Brown of Duluth. We paid $100,000 for the property, and that was the high water mark for up-river property at that time. This sale created quite a sensation but it was not to be compared with the stir caused by the sale of 155 acres between West Duluth and Spirit Lake (now known as Iron-ton) to Dr. V. Seward Webb, R. Wal-ter Webb (vice president of the New York Central railroad), Fred W. Vanderbilt and others, for $145,000. My partner, B. D. Brown, worked up the deal and the party came from New York by special train to examine the property. This property had been bought by John A. Willard and Albert Harrington the year before for less than $20,000.

"Matthew Bland Harrison made much history in his time. He came to Duluth with very limited means, but he was a member of one of the old families of Virginia, a man of great energy and foresight, and a good judge of real estate. His name will be associated with that period of Duluth's history as long as the city stands. He bought wild land at both ends of the city, one for fine residence property and the other for factory and business sites, and his judgment has been confirmed by events. He advertised Duluth more liberally and more efficiently than any other man of his time and he soon became one of the largest dealers in Duluth. He joined the Merritts in the opening up of the Mesaba range and helped build the Mesaba railroad. He died of Bright's disease in February, 1899, and his death was a great loss to Duluth. We had many transactions with him during the last years of his life, and I never knew a fairer, more honorable man or one who had a keener judgment. I turn aside to pay tribute to my old friend, whose untimely death was a source of grief to not only me, but to many devoted friends.

"Mr. Harrison had not only good judgment, but the best nerve of any man I ever knew. He thought nothing of going into a bank and borrowing on short time paper from $10,000 to $20,000, with which to buy bargains in real estate. He became temporarily embarrassed, but he had a facility of getting out, and in order to do so, he had to be very clever.

PRETTY BUNGALOW WHICH WOULD COST $3,600 TO BUILD IN DULUTH

A BUNGALOW PERSPECTIVE

FLOOR PLAN

Here is a bungalow that should appeal. The entrance is directly from the large veranda into the living room with its large fireplace and a beamed ceiling, which gives it that low bungalow effect. The door is so arranged as to be practically a part of the living room and still being in a room by itself. The dining room is conveniently arranged next to the kitchen. The kitchen having cabinets instead of a pantry and also having the entrance to both the second floor and cellar stairway. The bedrooms are conveniently connected with the bathroom, the linen cabinet being located in this same passage. Both bedrooms are finished in hardwood, the kitchen in Southern pine and the bedrooms and bath being white enamel. Hardwood floors are provided throughout. The house is also provided with hot water heating plant and modern plumbing, stone foundation and cement floor in basement. There is also provision made in the basement for a boiler room, fuel room, storeroom and laundry.

If needed, two rooms can easily be made on the second floor. The exterior walls and roof are shingled and stained.

All exterior wood trimmings are also stained and varnished. This bungalow can be built in Duluth or vicinity for $3,600.
